The Return of Iced Tea

With the attack on the calories of CSDs and high expense of “healthy” bottled beverages, consumers are once again looking toward iced tea as a favorite complementary beverage with food.

Iced tea is among the highest in gross margins and is also one of the most versatile items operators can offer in terms of additional flavors, functions and types.

The equipment is typically provided by the supplier and relatively reliable, with low maintenance. Ideas would include offering a “boost” from the CSD dispenser with iced tea, or simply providing similar flavor pumps to customize iced tea as consumers do with coffee. Obviously, the Arnold Palmer would be an easy addition.
